BELCHER EXTENSION ON GOOD ACREAGE

Success of the Belcher Divide has led the gentlemen connected with adjoining property to place on local subscription a small allotment which has already been spoken for to a great extent. The Belcher group is the one in which Clyde Heller and associates took over 300,000 shares on a basis of 20 cents and San Francisco took a block of 100,000 at 25 cents, making the total issued with pledges that work will be pushed with the utmost vigor.

The Belcher Extension Divide Mining company estate is composed of five claims located and adjoining the Belcher Divide ground on the north and west and the Revert Divide on the east.

The intense mineralization which is apparent on the great Divide property trends through the center of this group and it is manifestly the opinion of the myriad of persons who are buying the allotment of shares available on the market that the riches of the Divide vein is within their reach.

The subscription books will be open at the company's office, 508 1/2 State Bank and Trust company building, on Monday, April 1, and closes sharp at 4 o'clock p. m. of that day. All persons desiring to purchase the shares, which will be sold at 15c per share are requested to come prepared to pay for same at the time of subscribing. Ed J. Roberts is the president of the company and Thomas J. Lynch secretary and treasurer, together with a directory of capable local and eastern men who will guide the destinies of the enterprise.

Charles J. Kielhofer returned from San Francisco this morning after having delivered title, deeds and stock in the Divide Syndicate Mining company to San Francisco buyers who have ordered machinery and equipment to begin early next month in sinking a deep shaft. The work will be in charge of Fred Littenburg, a mining engineer of standing who has had extensive experience in Utah and Montana mining companies. Frank C. Lathrop, formerly of Goldfield, is president of the company which counts on four claims on the south contact of the Divide mineralized zone. The property adjoins the Rosetta.

Gustavus De Britton, of New York City, who is said to represent the Spreckels family, has taken over for his principals three claims and a fraction aggregating 72 acres for which the consideration is said to have been $25,000. The group is bounded by the Vernal on the east and the Payrock on the west and the Divide Con. on the south. The purchase was made on the recommendation of Jerome B. Higgins. Mr. De Britton is an engineer of extensive experience having spent the greater part of his life in South Africa and old Mexico.

The Desert Club opened at noon today with a large attendance of patrons who admired the exquisite taste of the management in adopting a line of decorations entirely new to the camp. From the walls are displayed some of the finest specimens of game heads, including the grandest moose head ever seen in Nevada. The eagle tribe is fittingly represented by another fine specimen while on top of the huge seven-ton safe which was hauled over from Goldfield appears a lone wolf.

Your last time to hear the jazz orchestra to night at the Airdome. Free concert before the dance.

ARREST RANCHER AS A HAND BOOK MAN

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Edward H. Kane, 51 years old, a wealthy ranch owner of Arcadia and well-known race horse breeder, was arrested by Detectives Hodges and Armstrong of the police purity squad, charged with operating a hand book and using his $5000 automobile as an office.

According to Mr. Kane, he was taken from his automobile by the police officers as he was reading several telegrams from friends in the east. He denied ever "making a book" and stated that while interested in race horses, he was a dealer in horses and not in races.

Detectives Hodges and Armstrong in their report stated that the rancher had in his possession racing forms and at the time of his arrest was operating a hand book. He was using his automobile as an office and seemed to be doing a good business, they said.

MAGAZINE WRITER COMES TO TONOPAH

Peter Clark MacFarlane, the famous writer whose name in the Saturday Evening Post has become known in every household, will be here Tuesday morning, accompanied by R. E. Connolly, press agent of the San Francisco stock exchange, to assist in acquainting people of the east with the worth of the new development in the Tonopah Gold Mountain district. This step has been taken owing to the wide demand for information and the fact that such an author as Mr. MacFarlane is coming here to visualize the situation shows to what an extent the country has become inoculated with the Divide bug. Joseph H. Hutchinson, the well-known operator of sheep in Nevada and former lieutenant governor of Idaho, will also arrive in the interest of a combination of San Francisco capital that is eager to break into the game. The governor will assist in preparing a publicity campaign for the new camp.
